

Saint Louis University (SLU) Psychiatry Residency Program

Saint Louis University (SLU) Psychiatry Residency Program is a mid-size psychiatry department where residents, fellows, faculty, and staff all work together in a close knit community to provide exceptional mental health care for all individuals. Our program goal is to help each individual resident develop the skills of an excellent clinical psychiatrist, which includes equal comfort with interviewing, biopsychosocial formulation, diagnosis, and treatment planning. Our trainees have extensive training in all modalities of mental health treatment, including extensive training in psychotherapy, psychopharmacology, and neuromodulation techniques.

Saint Louis University (SLU) is a warm, welcoming Jesuit academic setting located in the heart of urban St. Louis. Our wide catchment area and patients' significant psychopathology provide our trainees a comprehensive clinical experience. There is no clinical situation that you will not see and get comfortable treating here at SLU. Similarly, the expertise of subspecialty faculty (including forensic psychiatrists, geriatric psychiatrists, child and adolescent psychiatrists, and addiction psychiatrists) enhance the daily experience of our residents and allow for unique mentorship opportunities and specialty experiences. Our department is also highly invested in physician wellness, and we work daily to balance providing outstanding clinical care to our patients and maintaining the well-being of our residents, faculty, and staff. We hope you will apply to our program to learn more!
