

The Residency Training Program in Psychiatry at Mount Sinai Beth Israel provides outstanding clinical training in a stimulating, scientifically sophisticated environment with a staff dedicated to teaching, research and patient care. Located in the dynamic urban setting of lower Manhattan, the department is able to expose residents to patients from a wide variety of cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds.