

UT Austin Dell Medical School Psychiatry Residency

The Psychiatry Residency program is proud to offer a collaborative and collegial environment in which to master the knowledge and skill sets necessary to become part of the next generation of outstanding psychiatrists.

Clinical training experiences include a wide variety of patient populations and delivery systems within private sector, community, university, state, federal and Veterans Affairs health care systems.

The program strives to integrate training in neuroscientific, genetic, psychological, sociological, cultural and spiritual perspectives to help residents build a broad conceptual framework to understand and treat individuals experiencing mental illness.

The Psychiatry Residency is affiliated with the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences.
