

Metropolitan Hospital (New York Medical College)

26-resident program, located on Manhattan's upper east side. The program is entirely self-contained within the one site. The hospital is part of New York City's public hospital system, with a long history of providing essential services to the community.