

American Association of Directors of Psychiatric Residency Training

Biosketch

Jacqueline A. Hobbs, MD, PhD, DFAPA, CMQ
AADPRT Position: Presidential Appointee

Jacqueline A. Hobbs, MD, PhD, DFAPA, CMQ, is a Professor and Residency Training Director at the University of Washington Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences. She was previously the program director at the University of Florida College of Medicine for 14 years. Previous education and GME roles have included vice chair for education and associate designated institutional official. Prior AADPRT roles have included co-chair of the Curriculum Committee. Areas of clinical and educational interest include patient safety, quality improvement, and women's mental health. Dr. Hobbs is a co-lead for psychiatry and represents AADPRT as part of the Program Directors in Patient Safety and Quality Improvement (PDPQ) Educators Network, a collaboration among University of New Mexico Health Sciences, Project ECHO, ACGME, and OPDA.