

Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center

We are a tertiary hospital set in rural New England. Residents get in-depth exposure to tertiary and community care, advanced neuroscience, interventional psychiatry, research, psychotherapy, specialty clinics, and more. We offer a 5-year combined adult/child program and a research track. Residents can also choose to stay on for several fellowships, including child, geriatrics, addiction, sleep medicine and pain medicine. Residents can also obtain a master's in public health through our Leadership Preventive Medicine Residency. Home to Dartmouth College, amenities usually restricted to larger cities are easily accessible, such as fine dining, art museums, music, theater, division 1 athletics, and more. We believe Dartmouth is a great place to live and train, and we hope you will consider learning more about our program.
