

Medical College of Georgia/Augusta University

The Medical College of Georgia is home to 51 residency and fellowship training programs. The Department of Psychiatry and Health Behavior is the umbrella for four ACGME accredited programs, and a Psychotic Disorder Fellowship that is non-ACGME accredited.

In addition, our department hosts an APA Accredited Psychology Internship Program, and four post-doctoral psychology training programs. Our residents experience a variety of training sites and patient populations. Beyond the core rotations, we encourage trainees to individualize the curriculum with personally crafted electives. We are excited to recruit trainees who share our curiosity about human behavior and are dedicated to learning holistic approaches to treat mental health conditions. We seek learners who bring enthusiasm, creativity, compassion, and self-reflection to their work and function well within a team.
