

American Association of Directors of Psychiatric Residency Training

Biosketch

Amber Frank, MD

AADPRT Position: Chair, Addictions Committee

Amber Frank, MD, is the Program Director for the Cambridge Health Alliance Adult Psychiatry Training Program. She completed her undergraduate education at Swarthmore College and her medical school and residency training at Harvard Medical School. Dr. Frank's clinical interests include work with traditionally underserved populations, emergency psychiatry, and the integration of psychotherapy into diverse treatment settings. Her areas of focus within medical education include curriculum development and diversity, equity, and inclusion. Drawing upon work in experiential education and leadership development prior to pursuing a career in medicine, Dr. Frank also has a strong interest in the integration of collaborative leadership models into academic medicine and training. In addition to her work on the AADPRT Addictions Committee, Dr. Frank is an active member of the AADPRT Psychotherapy Committee.

