

Henry Ford Psychiatry Residency Program

Henry Ford Psychiatry Residency program is located in Detroit, Michigan. We are a program that trains clinically sound, collegial and scientifically impactful psychiatrists that are able to work both in urban and rural settings. We serve a very diverse population, both from a socio economic, gender and racial perspective. This allows for a rich experience that adequately equips residents for practice after graduation. We focus on wellness, we believe that a "well" psychiatrist is able to provide better care to the patients and work collaboratively with a team. We emphasis life-long learning, knowing that the world of medicine is ever evolving as we begin to better understand the disorders and new medications and other interventions are developed. Lastly, we are like a family and seek to help each other get better as we continue to strive for excellence on an individual as well as at an institutional level.
