

University of Kansas-Kansas City

The University of Kansas - Kansas City psychiatry program is a 4-year program that has been consistently accredited since 1950. Our mission is to produce capable, compassionate psychiatrists who provide evidence-based care to all patients, without stigma or stereotype and with a caring attitude. Our department also supports a child and adolescent residency program and an addiction psychiatry fellowship program.

If you're looking for a diverse and well-rounded training experience based in a Midwestern city with lots to see and do, check us out.