

The University of New Mexico

The Department of Psychiatry & Behavioral Sciences at The University of New Mexico combines innovative educational and research opportunities with excellent clinical care for one of the country's most beautiful and sparsely populated regions. We take our responsibility seriously to serve diverse socioeconomic and medically complex patients. We are committed to working with communities throughout New Mexico, and beyond, to improve lives every day.