

American Association of Directors of Psychiatric Residency Training

Biosketch

Alyson Gorun, MD

AADPRT Position: Psychotherapy Committee Chair

Alyson Gorun, M.D. is an Assistant Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at Weill Cornell Medicine and an Assistant Attending Psychiatrist at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital.

Dr. Gorun received her undergraduate and medical degrees from New York University. She completed residency training in psychiatry as chief resident at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Weill Cornell Medicine and a Reproductive Psychiatry Fellowship at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Columbia University Medical Center.

She has published and presented nationally in a number of areas including women's mental health, trauma, psychodynamic psychotherapy, and resident education. She teaches and supervises residents and is the Associate Training Director of the General Psychiatry Residency Program as well as the Director of Psychotherapy Training at NewYork-Presbyterian/Weill Cornell Medicine. She is a graduate of the Adult Psychoanalysis at the Columbia Center for Psychoanalytic Research and Training and is the Aaron Stern, MD, PhD Research Fellow in Psychodynamic Psychiatry.