

Duke Psychiatry Residency

Duke offers psychiatry residents a balanced, holistic education, integrating theoretical and scientific understandings of psychiatry, with strengths in both biological psychiatry and psychotherapy (and everything in between!). Residents provide care to an incredibly diverse patient population and work at a wide array of clinical sites. Residents' education is further supplemented by a robust didactic curriculum taught by leaders in the field. Our residency community is diverse, tight-knit, and supportive, and we view strong mentorship and resident wellness as essential parts of the residency training experience.
