

John Peter Smith Psychiatry Program

Our general psychiatry residency is a four-year program which is fully accredited by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME). In addition to developing psychiatric knowledge and skills, we emphasize developing neuropsychiatric knowledge/skills including the neurologic examination, neuropsychological evaluation of cognitive disorders and neuroimaging. Our residency enjoys a rich relationship with the University of North Texas Health Science Center and TCU and UNTHSC School of Medicine. Not only does JPS Health Network host the psychiatry residency program, but it is the core psychiatric rotation site for UNTHSC medical students and physician assistant (PA) students and TCU and UNTHSC medical students. House staff participates in the education of junior residents, medical students and PA students.
